Liberals guarantee future for National Resource Management organisations in Tasmania

The Federal Coalition Government has delivered $660,000 for the Cradle Coast and Southern National Resource Management organisations to ensure business continuity.

Despite two of the three Tasmanian NRM groups were unsuccessful in a competitive tender process, the Tasmanian Liberal Senate Team has successfully secured funding to tide the organisations over until a longer term arrangement can be secured.

“We are committed to maintaining continuity of delivery in Tasmania and these funds will ensure that services are delivered while a longer term solution is being worked through,” Senator Colbeck said.

“These reports are disappointing given that the Liberal Senate Team was able to secure these funds earlier this week that will ensure continuity of service and delivery in Tasmania. This positive result in ensuring continued servicing is just another example of the Tasmanian Liberal Senate Team advancing Tasmania’s interests in Canberra,” Senator Abetz said.
